

Cleaner energy for healthier communities

We're installing solar panels as part of our commitment to a healthy environment. We apologize for any construction-related inconvenience.

Our #1 priority is the well-being of our members, their families, and the general public, and our transition to renewable energy means fewer pollutants that can lead to illness. It's a positive step that benefits everyone. And because we're committed to keeping our rates competitive, we're pleased that our solar panel installation project saves money.

It's also the most impactful step we can take to address climate change, toward our goal of reducing greenhouse gases by 30%. But it's just one part of our industry-leading sustainability program, which also includes:

- Reducing waste
- Reducing the use of harmful chemicals
- Promoting sustainable food choices
- Conserving water
