

Kaiser Permanente Appoints New Area Senior Vice President, Area Manager of Panorama City/Antelope Valley Medical Center

Kaiser Permanente has named Patricia (Patti) Clausen, RN, as its new senior vice president, area manager of the Panorama City/Antelope Valley Service Area. As a member of the Health Plan and Hospital Leadership Team, Clausen will report directly to Bill Caswell, senior vice president, chief operating officer, Kaiser Permanente Southern California.

“Patti is a results-driven and dynamic executive with more than 23 years of health care experience,” said Caswell. “She brings exceptional leadership skills to her new position and exemplifies both integrity and transparency.”

Clausen most recently served as the chief nurse executive at Kaiser Permanente’s Los Angeles Medical Center. While there she fostered an environment of providing superior care for both patients and members, promoting a culture of safety across the medical center. While facing the many challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic, Clausen led her team to achieve the very prestigious Magnet® designation by the American Nurses Credentialing Center® (ANCC) Magnet Recognition Program.

Clausen holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from California State University, Long Beach and completed her Master of Business Administration at University of Phoenix. In her spare time, she enjoys bicycling, being outdoors and traveling with her family and friends.
